Travelling British Scroll Is Received By Guides-Brownies

The scroll presented by the British Girl Guides and Brownies to their Canadian counterparts was brought from High River on Saturday last and met at the C.P.R. depot by Vulcan Guides and Brownies.

In the High River party were Miss Riddick, field secretary; Mrs. Blake, district commissioner; and one Brownie from High River.

The local Guides and Brownies paraded from the station to the L.O.O.F. hall where the party was met by Mayor W. D. Allan. The group receiving the scroll included Mrs. A. Grove and Mrs. J. P. O'Connell, Guide Helen Hunter and Brownie Enid Fulton.

During the afternoon the scroll was on display in the L.O.O.F. hall. It consisted of descriptions and pictures, prepared by British Girl Guides, of the towns and localities in which their Companies were situated. It was evident that much fine work and effort had gone into preparing the scroll, and it was of considerable interest to those who viewed it during the afternoon.

At 5:30 p.m. the color party (Sharon Buehler, Cleo Robinson and Colleen O'Connell), Guide Helen Hunter and Brownie Enid Fulton took charge of the scroll and it was taken by Guide Patsy Robertson and Brownie Lynn Spaeth to a waiting truck which transported it to a point half-way between Vulcan and High River. Here it was met by the High River group, escorted by an R.C.M.P. officer, and sent on its way to High River.

Mrs. Alice Stager Taken By Death

Mrs. Alice Stager, aged 63, a former Vulcan district resident, died in Calgary on March 12.

Born in Cardinal, Ont., she moved to Alberta, to the Davisburg district, when she was three years old, and came to the Vulcan district in 1910. She had lived in Calgary for the past ten years and was a member of Central United Church.

Predeceased by her husband, Morris, at Vulcan in 1930 and by a son, Aubrey, in 1935, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. M. Fisher of Edmonton and Florence Stager of Vancouver; three sons, Clarence of Dapp, Alta., Ralph of Creston, B.C., and Ivan of Vulcan, six grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. A. R. Flett, of Calgary, and a brother, Percy Irving of Bonanza.

Rev. Gordon Lapp conducted the funeral service at McInnis and Holloway Funeral Home in Calgary on March 15, and graveside services were conducted at Vulcan cemetery the same day.

Record Sum For Alberta Roads

The provincial government will spend close to $20,000,000 this year on roads, bridges and ferries, according to information brought down in the legislature. This is about $6,000,000 more than in 1950.

The 1951 estimates provide $1,500,000 for bridge construction, an increase of $500,000 over last year's appropriation.

For Alberta's share of the Trans-Canada Highway the appropriation is $4,000,000 but the province will be reimbursed by the federal government for half of this outlay.

The 1951 program includes highway improvements in all sections of the province. Just as soon as spring conditions permit, the work will be under way.

Providing weather conditions are suitable, as in 1950, there is every confidence that the record program proposed for this year will be rounded out before freeze-up.

Extension of hard surfacing of main highways will be one of the highlights of the current season's program.

No species of birds now living have teeth.

The 1949-50 herring season in British Columbia was worth about $8,000,000, and gave employment to 500 fishermen.

Ladies' Auxiliary Names Delegates

The March meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion was held in the Legion hall, Thursday, March 21, with a good attendance of members.

Many business matters were dealt with including the voting of $10 to the current Red Cross Drive. Two applications for membership were received and favorably voted upon. The secretary was instructed to notify the candidates to be present at the April meeting for initiation.

The president, Mrs. A. Sales, and secretary Mrs. E. Jones, were named alternate delegates, branch as delegates to the provincial convention to be held at Lethbridge in June. Mrs. C. L. Findlay and Mrs. C. F. Miller were named alternate delegates. In the event that unforeseen circumstances prevent either or both of the first named members to attend.

An invitation was received from the local Legion branch for the Auxiliary members to be present to hear an address by Mrs. Mary Dover of Calgary following the April business meetings of the Legion and Auxiliary, which the members graciously accepted.

The secretary reported having received letters from some of the towns in this zone signifying their intention of having representation at the Rally to be held here April 21st.

Final details of preparation for the Rally were settled, and it is hoped to make this Rally, the first ever held in Vulcan, a real success.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Simpson Sr. and Mrs. A. Groves.

Tillage Methods For Soil Erosion

"Choose the proper implements for the job and plan their use thoroughly in advance," is the advice to prairie farmers for the best protection against soil erosion, given by J. G. Kemp of the federal Department of Agriculture's experimental station at Swift Current.

It should be remembered, Mr. Kemp warns, that any implement is capable of several results according to how and when it is used. The final result will depend on the correct selection and use of the available implements. Till your soil, he added, with a thought to what the wind and the rain will do after you finish, and know at all times what leads to soil erosion and the type of tillage that will prevent it.

Drifting occurs when the soil is finely pulverized and unprotected from the wind. Water erosion takes place when the soil is unable to absorb the moisture as fast as it comes, and is unprotected from falling rain or flowing water. This means the soil should be tilled so as to be left with some form of protection. Growing crops provide protection during the crop year, but some other form such as trash cover or a lumpy surface must be used for the summer-fallow fields. Crop residue, left well anchored on the surface, often will provide the needed protection for summer-fallow.

Tillage operations which will give the best lumpy surface do not necessarily leave a good trash cover. The reverse also is true. This is illustrated by a cloddy, bare surface left by ploughing, and a finely pulverized trashy surface that may be left by too shallow rod-weeding. Therefore, a compromise sometimes must be made. Disk implement will leave a lumpy surface and the trash partly buried if the conditions are right and the implement is not operated too shallow or over 3 1/2 miles per hour. However, if the soil is dry and trash sparse this type of operation will leave a finely pulverized bare surface. Operations with the duckfoot, wide sweep, and blade cultivators are most likely to approach the desired results for soil erosion control.

WHO Teams of Experts Cover the Globe in War on Disease

Impressions of Korea By Vulcan Man with Pats

Interesting side-lights on conditions in Korea, as seen from a Canadian soldier's point of view, are contained in a number of recent letters from Lorne Sales, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sales, at present at the front with the 2nd En. P.P.C.L.I., excerpts of which follow:

"The first day we were in action was one of those days one has nightmares about. It poured rain and snowed all at once and lasted all day and night. If you ever saw a bunch of drowned rats then you can imagine what we looked like. Everything we owned was soaked and much of our rain-coat belongings had to be thrown away before we moved off the next day.

"While at Miryong we had our laundry problem solved. We had a deck of smokes one could get a suit of underwear, socks and a towel washed. And 1000 Won (25 cents) would pay for just about any amount of washing. They ask us for soap now, but you know the way most of the washing is done would amuse you. The native women haul all the clothes down to an icy creek, arm themselves with a club, and proceed to beat the clothes clean on the rocks. That is no joke, and it is surely a sight to see.

"If you could only see the animals they have over here. Once a critter is big enough to walk the cow, steer, horse, or what-have-you it's hitched onto a cart and there it stays till the day it dies. Actually I don't think the people are allowed to eat any animals—that is, domestic ones. But that is just my surmise and I may be wrong.

"Schools just 'aren't' over here. The kids are put to work as soon as they are big enough to do anything. They just don't have time for education, I guess.

"Truly it is just about impossible to explain how terrible conditions are among the natives. How the people survive at all is away over my head. I know that no Canadian could make it. The cold and poverty is beyond description. The soil—or rather lack of it—is poor and unproductive and the land is rocky and barren.

"As you will know by now we are up where the shooting is taking place. Have made one overnight patrol into enemy territory and got back O.K. The Chinese have an exact replica of our Bren gun. The enemy is really well dug in, which makes it a tough job to gain much ground. Our rifle boys are sometimes within 50 yards of their fox-holes, but there is so much brush it is hard to find them up here in the mountains. At night they scream and howl in hopes of demoralizing our troops. So all in all there's never a dull moment. The American 'Shooting Stars' have been raising the dickens with them the last few days dropping the Napalm bombs.

"For the moment we are bedded down in a Gook village—some of us I should say. Well, you should see the 'cottage' we are occupying. I'll bet you would really be amused. It's about 16 x 8 I guess and made of mud and straw plastered over a frame of tree branches. Of course a bed is unheard of over here and everyone sleeps on the floor. Although the builder forgot to equip the place with doors and the wind howls through, he did install his idea of central heating. Outside is a little shelter, which is supposed to represent a kitchen. They have a sort of fire-place with vents running under the floor of the main building.

"When the fire gets going really good it makes the floor fairly comfortable. It may not sound very interesting the way I've described it, but it is really something to see. Considering the low cost of them, maybe the Army will hire some Gook to come to Canada and build them for the Korean vets, who know?

"Boy, the last couple of days have been cold. Luckily we had no patrols to go on, so we gazed at night and sleep in the daytime. I don't sleep all day but I do stay in bed to try to keep warm. I've had and nearly every other chap too, a cold ever since we landed in this country.

"As there are no mules in this country we have acquired some 75 or 80 South Koreans to haul supplies up to the rifle company in the mountains. They have been nicknamed 'rice-runners' by our fellows. An escort of 7 to 10 men is sent with each train of ammunition and rations. I was in an escort party the other day, and when we stopped to rest enroute we were all photographed by a War Correspondent, with a news-reel camera.

"Well here I am again and although it is only a couple of days since I wrote I feel so good right now I thought it would be a good time to write—the season my first bath in five weeks. Boy was it ever a wonderful feeling to get clean. It wasn't quite like the bath tub at home, but the results were similar. We managed to scrounge

United Church Cantata Enjoyed

Those who appreciate good music were given a rare treat Good Friday evening at the United Church when the Cantata "The Seven Words of Christ" by Dubois, was presented by the choir under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Almond. This was the best musical performance heard in Vulcan for many a day. All who took part deserve the highest praise for their efforts in presenting such a soul-stirring contribution to the cultural life of this community.

Mrs. Almond and the choir spared no time and effort in developing fine local talent. Solo parts were taken by Mrs. L. Lancaster, soprano; Mrs. W. Hitz, soprano; A. Jones, tenor; H. E. Kunkin, baritone; Wm. Shields, baritone; H. Ulmer, tenor; and R. L. Jamison, baritone. The members of the choir gave these soloists excellent support for each chorus. Seldom is anything of such quality attempted outside the large cities.

The church was crowded for the occasion in spite of the difficult roads in the district. By special request of many who were unable to attend the cantata will be repeated on Sunday evening, April 1st, at 7:30 for the evening service. If arrangements can be made the choir plans to present this musical treat in some of the neighboring towns soon.

Clothing from IRO for Korean Refugees

One hundred tons of warm winter clothing, shown being loaded aboard U.S. Navy transport at Bremerhaven, Germany, are part of a $175,000 consignment for Korea from the International Refugee Organization, a United Nations Specialized Agency. They are earmarked for civilian refugees, now numbering more than two million.

Heavy Runoff From Snows

County and Provincial Road Bans in Effect

The spring road ban is now in effect on all roads of the County of Vulcan and on provincial highways 23 and 24.

The ban applies to all trucks except light deliveries, which are limited to half-loads.

With the frost now going out of the ground, many side roads are virtually impassable and the runoff from the heavy snows of the past month has caused several washouts of culverts.

This week water completely covered some miles of the Sunshine Trail north of Vulcan although the road remained open. The road to Nanton is reported to be fairly dry although caution must be used at the Little Bow fall.

Early Resident Laid To Rest

Vulcan lost another of its much loved and highly respected citizens on Sunday, March 18, when Mrs. Mary McCliment passed away at the age of 73.

Born at Centerville, Elk County, Penn., she later moved with her parents to Morrisdale where she married David McCliment. She came to Nanton in 1905 and with her husband and family homesteaded in what was to become known as the Vulcan district.

She was predeceased by her husband in 1936 and since then has lived most of the time in Vulcan. Taking a keen interest in Red Cross work, she was a life member of that organization. She was a charter member of Clover Leaf Rebekah Lodge No. 37 and a past Dist. Dep. Pres. of that lodge, and also a member of the Ladies Aid. Her presence will be greatly missed by many friends and neighbors.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. Agnes Ruppel of Vancouver, Mrs. J. C. MacMillan, Mrs. B. E. Dann and Mrs. A. G. Scott, all of Vulcan; one brother and two sisters in Pennsylvania, U.S.A., seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. O. H. Rolis at the Vulcan United Church on Wednesday March 21, with Snodgrass Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were W. E. Roebuck, L. J. Hollister, Leo Spanke, G. C. Collier, D. L. Doane and Chauncey Layman.

Burial was made in the Vulcan cemetery, with graveside rites conducted by members of Clover Leaf Rebekah Lodge.

research and instructional services will total $257,044; for Junior Red Cross, $213,000; for international relief, Women's work and special grants, $279,764.

Red Cross Fund Now $576.00

Vulcan and district has reached a total of $576.85 in its annual Canadian Red Cross Society campaign for a total of $1,500.00. P. A. Thomson, Campaign Manager for Vulcan and District asks that everyone who has not yet contributed to the fund do so in order that this district may go over the top.

The Canadian Red Cross Society as a whole has set a quota of $5,000,000 to enable the society not only to carry on its peace-time services, but also to provide blood and blood products for Canada's armed forces.

Medical and nursing care in Canada, mainly concentrated in the Red Cross Outpost hospitals and Nursing Stations, will require $865,956 of this 1951 budget. Services to veterans, both in and out of hospital will cost $410,640.

A total of $1,661,255 has been budgeted for the free Blood transfusion Service, now operating in whole or in part of eight provinces, and planned to open in Saskatchewan this year. Almost 100,000 Canadians received free transfusions in 1950.

County Fair Displays May Tax Town's Facilities

Plans for the first annual Vulcan County Fair are now well advanced. Patterned after last year's highly successful country fair, the show this year will be greatly expanded both as to territory included and number of events.

Facilities of the town will be taxed to handle all the additional displays, but by utilizing the L.O.O.F. Hall, the Armouries, the curling rink and the skating rink the committee is assured of sufficient space to show all entries to their best advantage. In the handicrafts sections, exhibitors will be limited to work completed in the past three years.

The flower section, which proved so popular last year, will undoubtedly again be one of the highlights of the fair, since the show is being held August 10 and 11—at a time when country gardens will be at their best.

A catalogue of events is now being prepared, but since the demand for catalogues far exceeded the supply last year it is suggested that all those interested contact Mrs. K. Elder at Vulcan now to be assured of receiving a catalogue as soon as they are available.

Saskatoon Couple's Diamond Wedding

A recent visitor at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. H. Levers of New Westminster was enroute home from the diamond wedding celebration of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Meikle of Saskatoon. Her daughter is Mrs. E. E. Myers of Vulcan.

The celebration was held at the I.W.O.A. in Saskatoon and more than 100 friends called to extend their congratulations and good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Meikle were assisted by their three daughters, Mrs. H. Levers of New Westminster; Mrs. R. Affleck of Olan, Sask., and Mrs. W. H. Greggair of Saskatoon. A son, Andrew Meikle, of Regina, was also present.

Gifts from friends decorated the reception room, and the brides cake, which the bride of 60 years helped make, was prominently displayed amidst hand-painted tulle, a gift from New Zealand.

Mr. and Mrs. Meikle were proud to receive a telegram from Their Majesties the King and Queen, from Buckingham Palace. Messages of good wishes were also received from Prime Minister St. Laurent, Premier T. C. Douglas and friends from coast to coast.

Forgotten Man

Glancing over the death notices in the Albertan on Thursday we noted the passing of W. D. Trego in Calgary. Very few of the present generation will appreciate what this man contributed to the early agricultural progress of Alberta. South of Gleichen, in the rolling country of Majorville, just east of what is now known as Milo and Queenstown, he pioneered tree culture and fruit production. He was a militant speaker and many times nonetop practical in his remarks, he nevertheless did lead the way in better living and happier home surroundings on Alberta Prairies. A contemporary of Mr. Trego's was a Mr. Ingram at Sundial, just north of the Little Bow River. Along about 1916-1917-1918 he was drawing flocks of people to his tree-sheltered gardens where he produced crops of luscious strawberries and raspberries. But fate was cruel. The lush years from 1911, to 1917 fostered his efforts. From this time on the situation was hopeless. A few years later we drove by his farm, which was abandoned, with most of the trees dead, the buildings in rack and ruin and strawberries nothing more than a memory. Sundial was a post office for many years. A Danish family by the name of Engen ran it. It was also a stopping house for the homesteaders moving out from Lethbridge to the Sweet Valley, Badger Lake and Kimmondale districts. We stopped there one cold winter night and the old Grandpa gave us a laugh the next morning when he effectively cussed the cows in his native tongue. They must have been bi-lingualists, for they sure beat a hasty retreat.

THE RESURRECTION

Upon that Easter Day so long ago,

When Mary and the others found Him gone,

They feared that thieves had come before the dawn

And robbed the tomb. For then they did not know

He had arisen, conquered death—to show

All men that God so loved each soul upon

The earth that He would gladly pawn,

In death, His one begotten Son that so

All might have everlasting life, through trust;

But when the angel waiting nearby said

That Jesus was arisen and not dead,

And He Himself appeared to them—they knew.

Be either saint or sinner, Easter must

Reveal God's magnanimity to you.

THIS AND THAT

BY V.A.C.

For a long time I have had a scrapbook of clippings to which I have added bits of verse and humour during the years. These have given me much pleasure which I would like to share with you. If we can spend a few pleasant moments together from time to time I will have found the effort worth while.

Not long ago I heard some local ladies lamenting because curling came before everything else in Vulcan. They were of the opinion that something should be done to correct the situation. I don't want to bring this matter into the open, but I can't resist the temptation to pass along a bit of verse by Nellie L. McClung which I have. I give it to you with her comments.

THE ROARIN' GAME—Curling is a splendid sport for women. Not only does it provide healthful exercise, opportunities for self control, and good sportsmanship, but being primarily a man's sport, it makes for better understanding between men and women. A man can understand how his wife may be late in getting home from a curling game much easier than if she has been at a missionary meeting.

MAGIC—She parks her baby with a friend, She piles her dishes in the sink, Pulls on her sweater, grabs her broom

And hurries over to the rink. She would have had her dishes done, But she was drawn to curl at one.

She wins her game—and so is drawn To curl again at half-past three; This a bear-cat of a game Against an ancient enemy.

When she comes out, the lamps gleam high, Like stars against the dull, gray sky.

Now by all things that we have learned Of husbands and their ways, This woman's man will angry be And grievous trouble raise

When he comes home, at close of day, And finds his dear wife—far away.

He goes and brings his offspring home, He lights the kitchen fire, He seizes the supper on to cook; No trace of slumbering ire;

But knowing what we know of life We tremble for the erring wife.

At half-past six her step is heard, Her voice is full of joy; "O Bill—I didn't do a thing, To Mrs. Pomeroy.

I took her out with my last stone, And we were one up coming home."

And as he stirred the baby food he said, "I'm glad you lammed her good."

Our minister is just wonderful. He brings home to you things you never saw before. But for that matter so does the dry cleaner.

Principal (to pretty teacher)—"Got anything doing for Sunday ingat, Miss Beside?"

Teacher (hopelessly)—"No, not a thing!"

Principal—"Then try to be on time for school Monday morning, please."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their flowers and expressions of sympathy at the time of our bereavement.

Power Project in Brazil

One example of economic development in South America is this hydroelectric project in the Rio de Janeiro area. A loan of $75,000,000 from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, a Specialized Agency affiliated with the United Nations, to the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company, Ltd., assisted in financing recent expansion of its developing hydroelectric system.

Careful Planning Necessary For Green, Healthy Lawn

The difference between a beautiful, green stretch of healthy grass and a patchy, mud-dotted lawn is the knowledge the owner had when he started to make the lawn. All over Canada, thousands of new lawns are in the making, most of them still in the planning stage. That stage—planning—is the place to make the best use of knowledge. Here are a few points suggested by J. H. Boyce of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa:

Soil—A medium or sandy loam soil relatively high in organic matter is desirable. If good soil exists on the lot scrape it off and stock pile it before excavation is started.

Drainage—Good surface and under drainage are essential to the establishment of good turf.

Grading—The lawn should slope gradually away from the house. Avoid sharp breaks in contour if possible.

Organic matter—May be added in the form of manure or peat to improve the structure of both light and heavy soils.

Liming—Do not apply lime unless a soil test shows it to be necessary.

Fertilization—The application of fertilizer prior to seeding is desirable on all soils and is essential on soils of low fertility. Apply uniformly and work it into the soil during the course of seed-bed preparation.

Seed-bed—Prepare a firm seed-bed, finely pulverized at the surface by alternately raking and rolling.

Time of Seeding—Seeding should be done as early as possible in the spring or during late August and early September.

Seeds mixture—Select a mixture containing species which are adapted to the location.

Seeding—Broadcast the seed uniformly.

Covering—Cover seed by lightly raking or by applying a thin layer of screened topsoil. Follow covering by rolling.

Watering—Keep the seed-bed moist but not flooded until the seedling grass becomes well established. Avoid washing the seed from the soil.

More complete details concerning the establishment of turf are contained in the circular "The Construction and Care of Lawns" which may be secured from the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or from Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Science Service Building, Ottawa.

It is 99 years since Canada issued her first postage stamp.

Forage Grass Diseases

Grasses like all other economic plants are host to many diseases. The bacteria, fungi, viruses, nematodes, and a few parasitic higher plants are among the pathogens that cause the diseases. The fungi are most to blame, but the others also are responsible for several economically important diseases. Non-parasitic disorders that frequently are mistaken for parasitic diseases are common to some grasses; actually they are caused by heredity or physiological factors.

The diseases can be classified into three major groups according to the parts of the plants they attack: root disorders, foliage disorders, and flowers and seed disorders.

Root disorders are caused by soil inhabiting fungi and nematodes. Foliage disorders (blight, mildews, leaf spots, rusts, smuts) are caused by bacteria, fungi and viruses. Fungi and nematodes cause flower and seed disorders (ergot, head and kernel smuts, and seed galls).

Of these, root disorders are the least conspicuous, but they include several of the economically important pathogens and generally are responsible for the inability of grasses to establish initial seedlings on the rapid depletion of already established stands.

Foliage disorders, the most conspicuous group, include a relatively small number of pathogens that are important. They destroy only the foliage, the part of the plant that is readily regenerated.

Flowers and seed disorders have economic importance only when crops are grown for seed. Some of this group are highly destructive and seriously hamper seed production. One—ergot, a fungus disease—can poison livestock if infected grasses are heavily grazed.

However, environmental conditions, especially temperature and moisture, limit the range and destructiveness of the diseases. The two factors limit certain diseases to geographical regions; they may be the reason why a disease becomes economically destructive one season and diminishes to one of minor consequence the following season.

It is thus seen that diseases aggravate the range condition, in addition to overgrazing or misuse of the range.

visiting around

We like to go visiting to see how other people produce textiles. A good many come to visit us, and we like this too. All main countries have textile industries, and people come from other countries in the western group to study our methods. The textile industry here in Canada is among the leaders in technical skill and effectiveness. And along with the U.S. it pays the highest wages for textile employment anywhere. In Canada the industry is the largest employer of manufacturing labor. Textiles also pay the largest manufacturing wage bill in this country. In these times, the size and technical ability of the industry are important features of Canada's strength.

NORTHERN TIMBER SURVEY

A mapping program of forest resources in the north is being carried out by the federal Forestry Branch of the Department of Resources and Development. Areas being surveyed are Wood Buffalo Park, northern Alberta, and northwest along the Slave and Mackenzie Rivers in the Northwest Territories. In the first two operating seasons some 2,100 square miles have been mapped by the Air Survey Division from photographs taken by the R.C.A.F.

The port of Churchill, Man., handled a record number of 20 ships during the brief 1950 shipping season.

Farmers Are Urged To Treat Seed Grain

Provincial Departments of Agriculture are stressing the annual pre-seeding precautions that farmers make sure of seed supplies and also make sure of their cleaning and germination tests. The seed supply situation of 1951 may be unusual following the unusual crop season of 1950. This year some areas may find it difficult to get enough good seed.

In Canada the most serious of the seed-borne diseases for many years have been the smuts of wheat, oats and barley. Farmers are so familiar with those diseases that detailed description is unnecessary. Many know to their sorrow that a crop which grades "smutty" represents a serious loss of dollars.

What is the best form of treatment to avoid these possible losses?

The method most recommended by research scientists is the use of mercury. Well established commercial forms of it are available cheap in price and easy of application. So well established not only in Canada but elsewhere has the practice of using mercury become that many farmers now regard it as part of the job of sowing their fields in the spring season.

At any rate the technical work of Dr. Dillon and Dr. Boer is being translated into millions of dollars for pockets of western grain farmers. It is now accepted that mercury dressings for seed give a wide range of protection to all crops. Canadian scientists have also established this.

In the west the experimental work for testing effectiveness of Leytosan and Leytosol "C" is carried on at Birtle, Manitoba, on land which used to be a provincial experimental farm.

lifting a subvention paid per ton of coal shipped to the Ontario market.

These members noted that the present rate of $8.40 a ton would be stopped April 1 and an additional $2.35 added then plus another $2.35 a ton in one year, making a total of $13.10. This would have the effect of making Alberta coal non-competitive because of price on the Ontario market. For defence reasons alone, a part of the Ontario market should be retained, otherwise many Alberta mines would close and would not be available in an emergency. They also emphasized the serious effect on persons who made their living mining coal.

Premier Manning, in joining in the general agreement with the proposed plea to the federal government told the legislature that the government was co-operating with Alberta coal operators against the lifting of the subvention paid on coal shipments. He also announced that J. J. Frawley cabinet counsel who had done an "outstanding" job on the province's freight rate submissions to the Royal Commission on freight rates, would leave for Ottawa to present the province's views on why coal should be protected to the board of transport commissioners.

With very little objection the legislature gave final approval to the $94,000,000 budget at a night sitting two weeks after the budget was introduced. Every item of expenditure is considered by the members before the whole budget is passed.

YOUR GOVERNMENT

(By Andy Snaddon)

The Canadian Parliament and the British Parliament maintain a permanent record of proceedings, called Hansard. Shorthand reporters write down everything that is said, and these reports are later printed for distribution.

Alberta's legislature maintains no such record. It has been suggested that it should before, and during this session J. Harper Prowse, Liberal leader and Elmer Roper, C.C.F. leader, moved that some form of a record be kept. Their motion enjoyed the endorsement of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers.

The motion was lost, although a few government supporters voted in favor of it. Mr. Prowse and Mr. Roper suggested that recordings of major debates mechanically, might be tried if it was felt a Hansard type of record could not be justified. They observed, rightly, that press reports, by their very nature, tended to stress highlights. They also argued that a permanent record would assist members and would also be of value to persons interested in full coverage of debates of particular interest to them. For instance, let us say, an editor of a weekly paper was interested in some debate on a purely local issue. He could refer to the legislative record for full detail on what was said, but which would likely not be available in any other way. Further, he, or any interested person could count on the report being purely a straight report of proceedings, leaving them absolutely free to reach their own conclusions on the merit.

Premier E. C. Manning replied for the government. He said consideration had been given to the idea but it had been rejected because the government felt that mechanical recordings were not adequate. To hire court reporters and to pay printing costs of a Hansard report would be more expensive than the demand for such a service justified. He noted that a great deal of trivial and inconsequential material would have to be recorded and it would be of value or interest to no one.

Government members voting for the motion were: F. C. Colborne, Calgary; Peter Chaba, Redwater; William Tomyn, Willingdon; J. W. Beaudry, St. Paul; H. E. DeBolt, Spirit River; Norman Willmore, Edson; and O. B. Moore, Ponoka. Opposition supporters included Mr. Roper, Mr. Prowse, A. J. E. Liesemer, and Hugh John MacDonald, Calgary; Arthur Wray, Banff-Cochrane; and A. V. Bourcier, Lac Ste. Anne. The government vote against totalled 33.

Alberta's coal industry received support from the legislature. A motion was introduced by William Kovach, Pincher Creek, and Norman Willmore, Edson, asking that the federal government refrain from the proposed policy of PENNIES . . .

That Never Come Back

Every once in a while you hear a man or woman remark:

Just see what I got in the city! Isn't it lovely? And you see how much I saved!"

For shame!

You who buy clothing, things to eat and wear, articles for home adornment and comfort—did you ever stop to think what "end of the rope" you are pulling when you spend your money out of town?

Bad pennies are these.

They never come back to show proof of the good for which they were minted—so far as we are concerned—we people of Vulcan and vicinity.

Also, do you ever stop to think of the extra cost of the things you buy outside of Vulcan, such as the express or freight charges or your own personal transportation fares? Then there's doubtful value, possible loss or injury to merchandise so bought—things to be considered, if you're wise.

Our home merchant carries the load for us, and he should have your support to the last penny spent for no matter what.

For those pennies are the pennies that come back and in inestimable figures—they circulate, create business, add wealth, work and health to your own community.

Remember—it's the pennies that come back that count!

a large pontoon raft and it served the purpose excellently.

"Since I last wrote we had a real battle on our hands. We put on a big drive as you will have read. Our platoon had the distinction of being point platoon for the battalion. We took our hill just before dawn on the 7th and that was quite a day for the "Pats". "Dog Coy" had a rough time of it with quite a few casualties. They had to put in a bayonet charge to take their mountain. And you can ask Dad what charging up a mountain like that would be. It's some job and that's for sure, but it did rout the enemy and they left in such a hurry that they didn't take their ammo or anything else with them.

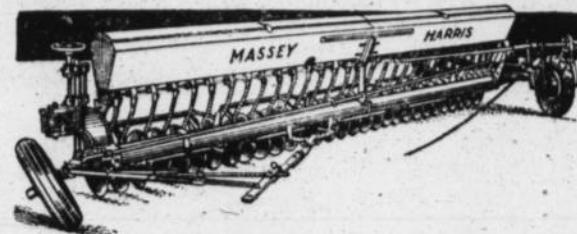

"We managed to get into a Gook village again yesterday afternoon. You know I get quite a kick out of these poor Korean people. They are between the devil and the deep blue sea, so to speak. When the Reds are occupying a village these people host the Chinese flag and treat the Reds as good as possible. Then as soon as the Allies come over the hill down comes the Chinese flag and up goes the U.N. flag. We are always greeted with smiles and bows and there's nothing they won't do for us. They even move into neighbours' houses and vacate as many as possible for our use. And of course they haul water, chop wood and everything else for our convenience. In return they get cigarettes and the odd can of rations, which is quite a treat to them.

"For my money they can't get to the 38th parallel too soon. Of course I suppose the Chinese will really put up a stand before then, but maybe not. Most of us can't see what anyone would want with a country like this. One thing I do know is that I'll sell my share of it for nothing and go back to the wide open spaces."

WILD MAN RETURNS

"Who's the stranger, mother dear?
Look he knows us—ain't he queer?"
"Hush, my own, don't talk so wild:
He's your father, dearest child."
"He's my father? not at all;
Father died away last fall."
"Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined the curling club.
But they've closed the club, so he Has no place to go you see—
No place left for him to roam—
That is why he is boming home.
Kiss him—he won't bite you child;
All them curling guys look wild."
